

Contents

A Note on American Pictorial Art xvi

Prologue xviii

1 The making of Americans 1

Chapter 1 What Europeans found: the American surprise 2

Christopher Columbus: Who he was and why he came 2

Before discovery 6

Why Europeans went exploring 10

Spanish adventurers 12

French and English exploration 20

Chapter 2 An assortment of colonies 24

The Spanish Empire 25

A great and victorious England 28

The planting of Virginia 31

The Puritans come to New England 36

Other Europeans in North America 40

The proprietary colonies 41

Chapter 3 New ways in a New World 45

Many kinds of Americans 45

The colonists govern themselves 55

Britain against France 59

MAKING CONNECTIONS 64

2 Forming a new nation 67 1763-1800

Chapter 4 The road to revolution and victory 68

- The British take a collision course 68
- Declaring independence 76
- How British power was overthrown 82

Chapter 5 From confederation to nation 93

- New state governments 93
- The Continental Congress 96
- A weak confederation 98
- Writing a nation's constitution 104
- The states ratify 109

Chapter 6 The United States begins 114

- The nation in the 1790s 114
- George Washington sets the course 118
- Foreign affairs for a new nation 124
- John Adams and the rise of parties 130

MAKING CONNECTIONS 136

3 E pluribus unum: One made from many 139 1800-1840

Chapter 7 Jefferson in power 140

- The man and his policies 141
- Buying Louisiana 146
- Jefferson, Marshall, and the courts 153
- Trouble on the seas 156

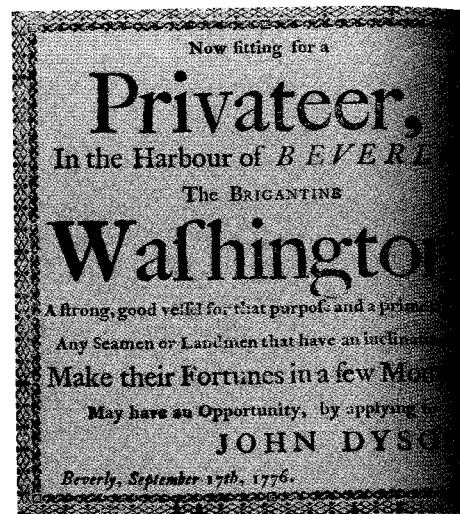

Chapter 8 Struggles of a young nation 161

- The War of 1812 161
- Madison and Monroe 171
- The Missouri Compromise 176
- The Monroe Doctrine 178
- A national spirit 180

Chapter 9 The Jacksonian era 183

- A second Adams in the White House 183
- The new politics 186
- Jackson takes command 191
- Banks and money 198

MAKING CONNECTIONS 204

4 A nation growing and dividing 207 1800–1860

Chapter 10 The flourishing land 208

- Drawing the people together 208
- The Industrial Revolution 218
- America's leading import: people 223
- The rise of the West 226
- The cotton kingdom 228

Chapter 11 Reforming and expanding 233

- An age of reform 233
- The abolition movement 239
- Westward ho! 242
- Texas and Oregon 247
- War with Mexico 251

Chapter 12 The failure of the politicians 255

- The Compromise of 1850 255
- How the compromise collapsed 262
- The nation comes apart 266
- The election of 1860 270

MAKING CONNECTIONS 276

5 The rocky road to Union 279 1860–1890

Chapter 13 The Civil War 280

- A new kind of war 280
- The first year: 1861–1862 288
- The widening conflict 295
- Gettysburg to Appomattox, 1863–1865 299

Chapter 14 To punish or to forgive? 306

- “With malice toward none” 306
- Andrew Johnson and the Radicals 310
- “Black Reconstruction” 314
- The North withdraws 319
- The divided South 322

Chapter 15 The passing of the frontier 326

- Indian wars and resettlement 326
- Seeking gold and silver 332
- The cattle kingdom 337
- The farmers' frontier 341

MAKING CONNECTIONS 348

6 The new industrial age 351 1865-1900

Chapter 16 The nation transformed 352

- Railroads and big business 352
- Rock oil lights up the world 358
- City goods for country customers 361
- Buyers' Palaces 363
- Things by the millions 365
- Labor begins to organize 368

Chapter 17 The challenge of the cities 373

- The growth of an urban nation 373
- Reformers and self-helpers 381
- The spread of learning 383
- Bridge-building heroes 386
- Going up! elevators and skyscrapers 388
- New towns in the country 390

Chapter 18 Politics in the Gilded Age 393

- Parties in balance 393
- The Democrats come and go 397
- The farmers' revolt 402
- Our money: gold versus silver 407

MAKING CONNECTIONS 410

7 Democratic reforms and world power 413 1890-1920

Chapter 19 The United States and the world 414

- Looking outward 414
- Expanding on the seas 417
- War with Spain 420

Chapter 20 The Progressive Era 429

- Theodore Roosevelt's Square Deal 429
- Middle-class reformers 435
- Taft in the White House 438
- Woodrow Wilson and the New Freedom 444
- Seeking a world role 447

Chapter 21 The United States and World War I 453

- A spark ignites Europe 453
- Helping to win the war 461
- The home front 465
- Losing the peace 471

MAKING CONNECTIONS 476

8 From boom to bust 479 1918–1932

Chapter 22 Return to normalcy, 1918–1929 480

- The postwar reaction 480
- Searching for the good old days 485
- “Keeping cool with Coolidge” 490
- Life in the Jazz Age 494

Chapter 23 The coming of the Great Depression 499

- A prosperous nation 499
- The big crash 502
- Foreign affairs in a gloomy world 508
- The election of 1932 510

MAKING CONNECTIONS 514

9 Depression at home and aggression abroad 517 1933–1945

Chapter 24 “Nothing to fear but fear itself” 518

- Franklin D. Roosevelt’s New Deal 518
- From recovery to reform 527
- The end of the New Deal 534

Chapter 25 Reshaping American life 538

- Problems on the farm 538
- The problems of black Americans 542
- The New Deal and women 545
- The struggles of labor 547

Chapter 26 Clouds of war 551

- Foreign affairs, 1933–1939 551
- The battlefield is everywhere 559
- War comes to the United States 564

Chapter 27 A world conflict 568

- Mobilizing for defense 568
- “The end of the beginning”—1942 573
- Victory in Europe 578
- The war in the Pacific 587

MAKING CONNECTIONS 594

10 Postwar problems 597 1945-1960

Chapter 28 Truman: neither war nor peace 598

Beginnings of the cold war 598

Dealing with a new world 603

President in his own right 611

Chapter 29 Eisenhower, moderate Republican 618

The Republicans return 618

Everybody's New Deal 623

The fight for equality 627

Difficulties abroad 631

Chapter 30 Mobile people and magic machines 639

A changing people 639

Everyday life transformed 645

Education and religion 651

Art and the machine 652

MAKING CONNECTIONS 656

11 Turbulent times 659 1961-1974

Chapter 31 Years of hope and promise 660

John F. Kennedy wins 660

Learning hard lessons 664

Facing Communist challenges 667

A New Frontier 671

The tragic end 675

Chapter 32 Lyndon B. Johnson—from success to failure 675

Taking the reins 678

The Great Society 682

Black revolt and youth rebellion 685

“The most unpopular war” 690

Chapter 33 The rise and fall of Richard Nixon 696

Electing the President, 1968 696

Nixon's first term 699

The fall 706

MAKING CONNECTIONS 714

12 The United States looks ahead 717

Chapter 34 A new world of competition 718

- The two ideals 718
- Dealing with racism 723
- Women seek equality 726
- Spanish-speaking peoples 732
- New waves of immigration 736
- The American Indians 738
- New vistas of equality 741

Chapter 35 Changing leaders in Washington 746

- Gerald Ford becomes President 746
- Jimmy Carter: a campaigner as President 751
- The United States and the world 757
- New initiatives by Carter 760

Chapter 36 New directions 766

- Reagan takes charge 766
- The changing economy 769
- Foreign affairs 773
- Successes and failures 779
- New problems for the Teflon President 785
- The end of the Reagan years 790

MAKING CONNECTIONS 796

Epilogue 798

Appendixes

- Atlas of Today's World 802
- Some Facts about Our States 814
- Presidents and Vice-Presidents of the United States 815
- The Declaration of Independence 816
- The Constitution of the United States 822

Glossary 856

Index 867

